

MAKE BETTER DECISIONS

workshop

Teams can be very challenging and many times good intentions produce bad results. Teams can create frustration for all members because untrained members do not know how to function as a team.

REASONS WHY TEAMS FAIL:

- Team members don't trust each other
- Poor communication among members
- Unclear roles for members
- Unclear goals for the team
- Ineffective leadership
- Unresolved conflict between members
- Inadequate resources for the team
- Lack of commitment and motivation

97% of leaders believe when a team isn't aligned, it seriously impacts project outcomes

75% of teams exhibit dysfunction

60% of work teams fail to achieve their goals

33% of leaders report a decrease in morale when teams struggled to collaborate

A TEAM is a group of people committed to a common purpose who choose to cooperate in order to achieve exceptional results.
